Few there are that fol - low the line.

Tell Him you're sorry for what you have done
 Tell Him all, lay open your heart;
 He sees your deeds, you're never alone
 You must be His sanctified art.

Tell Him to give you a work for your hands
 Make His precepts solely your light;
 Upright, forgiv'n, take nobly your stand,
 Valliant be, prepared for the fight.

Tell Him to feed you each day on His word
 Ponder closely all that you read.
 Be not forestalled, waylaid or deterred
 Scripture truth is what your soul needs.

Are you going to Vanity Fayre –
 Cold and friendless, tortured by time?
 Don't trust the tales of him who rules there,
 He knows neither reason nor rhyme.
