

Imagine

(original by John Lennon)

Imagine there's no heaven
It takes some nerve to try;
Only a foolish person
Would what is plainly true deny.
Imagine there's no reason -
We merely live and die!

Imagine no One's watching
The things you do and say;
No need to care for others
No need to watch and pray.
You'd be your only master
Living for today!

*Can't you see that you're a dreamer,
Not at all the only one;
Can't you hear your Father calling,
'Why remain a traitor on the run?'*

Imagine transcendentals
Were nothing more than mist
Your name, like truth & numbers
Do really not exist.
Are particles alone the nature
Of what we all consist?

*Can't you see that you're a dreamer?
Closed eyes cannot see the sun!
Why not pray and think it over?
Why not rebel lies and folly shun?*

Copyright owned by Steve Layfield [Psalter21.com] – freely reconstructed from John Lennon 2012.